

HELP PROTECT WORKERS' RIGHTS IN ILLINOIS

NEIGHBORING STATES HAVE SUFFERED CONCERTED, SUCCESSFUL ATTACKS ON LABOR UNIONS and collective bargaining. We have a chance to prevent those attacks from happening in Illinois by passing the Workers' Rights Amendment to the state constitution. This amendment would limit the power of the General Assembly, state or any local government from restricting or prohibiting collective bargaining.

Supporting the Workers' Rights Amendment would protect our strong labor laws for future generations. The amendment would:

Prevent Wage Cuts. In Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, the introduction of anti-union laws lowered inflation-adjusted hourly wages by 3% on average. We can't afford that in Illinois—and we need to ensure right to work can't come to Illinois.

Keep Illinois' Current Strong Labor Laws. This amendment does not change our state's current labor laws. It only creates a constitutional floor for collective bargaining that will prevent future attacks like those we've seen in so many other states.

Give Working People the Respect We Deserve. The pandemic has been a stark reminder of how important working people are in a crisis. We deserve respect and to know our rights will be protected—not just today, but in the future as well.
